

Too Many Cooks: Whatcha Drinkin'?

Caroline Lange, provided by

FOOD52

Published 3:00 pm, Friday, August 7, 2015

You'll be hearing from the staff at FOOD52 every other week in Too Many Cooks, our group column in which we pool our answers to questions about food, cooking, life, and more.

Today: Hydration, hydration, hydration.

We asked the team: What are you drinking?

Ryan M.: It's not something you can make, but I have an addiction to La Croix carbonated water. I can't decide if I like the grapefruit (or "pamplemousse," if you want to be fancy) or cherry-lime the best.

Samantha: I finally get to express my sincere hope that at some point, if MTV Cribs is ever brought back, and if I somehow have a chance to invite their video crew into my home (maybe a "small spaces" twist?) and show them my fridge, the shelves would be lined with cans of lime La Croix.

Read more here: <http://www.stamfordadvocate.com/food/food52/article/Too-Many-Cooks-Whatcha-Drinkin-6431425.php>